Wrangle Over Voting
Machines Continues

County Judge Wayland Angel cast a tie-breaking vote Monday as dissension flared at commissioners court over the voting machine proposition.

Randall County voters will ballot in general election in November on whether the county should buy voting machines. Commissioners were generally agreed that a specific number of machines should be included in the proposition put to the voters. They couldn't agree on the number.

Clarence Beckman, who has been lukewarm if not outright against purchasing the machines, said the county should buy 38 if it buys any at all.

His contention was that at least 36 machines will be required to hold an election at the present time and two standbys are needed in case of trouble. Beckman contended that to base the proposition on only 30 machines would be misleading to voters.

"We'll have to turn around and buy more machines later," he declared.

Commissioner C. Y. Johnson pointed out that 12 machines have been loaned to the county until 1964.

Hot words were swapped by Attorney Gene McGlasson and Commissioners B. R. Jones as the Canyon attorney appeared before the commissioners to ask questions about the voting machines.

Jones accused McGlasson of deliberately asking embarrassing questions.

"I think the people have a right to know," he said.

Concert Memberships
Available Three Days

Only three shopping days left! Canyon Community Concert memberships are available for only three more days.

With forecasts for one of its most exciting series, the association began its eighth season here Monday evening with an Hawaiian luau for a kick-off dinner.

National representative from Community Concerts in New York, Mrs. Peggy Blackburn, issued instructions to the workers. She urged the group to work "very hard this week and fill the (high school) auditorium". The auditorium seats 750.

Mrs. H. R. Fulton Jr., accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gerald Dietz, sang two songs from "South Pacific": "Happy Talk" and "Ball Hi".

Over 100 workers are enlisting members this week, with headquarters in the Southwestern Public Service Co. office.

First program on the schedule this season is the Carlos de la Camara Ballet Espanol. The brother-sister team from Madrid will be the first dancing ensemble to appear in the new Canyon High School auditorium. Though they are only 20 and 21 years of age, Carlos and his sister, Myrna Gloria, have been dancing together professionally since 1951.

The dancers have had tours of department. A tour of the campus, led by Chamber members, faculty, and members of the Student Senate, will precede a dinner at 5 p.m. in the west side of the cafeteria.

With Vaughn presiding, the dinner program will be opened with invocation by Bob Wear, minister of the Canyon Church of Christ. Welcome will be given by Canyon Mayor Delbert Lowes and Student Senate president Ralph Dunn of Lubbock.

WT President James P. Cornette will talk on the present status and future plans of West Texas State College.

The visitors will be guests of the college at the WT-Texas Western football game Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Buffalo Bowl.

Tour Campus Saturday

Canyon Chamber of Commerce board members Monday night made final plans for playing host to a group of area bankers and newspaper publishers.

The group will arrive on the campus of West Texas State College Saturday afternoon.

Visitors will be greeted, starting at 1:30 p.m., in the formal lounge of the Student Union Building. Handling registration and host for a reception will be members of the Student Union Board, a group which assists the Student Senate in planning special activities.

Carroll Vaughn, Canyon Chamber president, will outline the day's activities at 2:30 p.m., when bankers will visit in the School of Business and publishers tour the journalism vaccination will take place here Oct. 7. Stephanie is a first grader in Canyon schools.

Controversy flared in print this week between the athletic directors of West Texas State College and Texas Tech over who is terminating the football rivalry of quarter century between the two schools.

Dr. James P. Cornette, WT president, in a speech before the West Texas Student body Monday placed the blame on Texas Tech.

He laid most of it at the door of Tech Athletic Director Polk Robison.

An Amarillo newspaper Tuesday portrayed Robison as having put the blame for the termination on officials of West Texas State.

The Amarillo Globe-Times Tuesday quoted Robison as having said Tech contacted WT earlier this year and offered to come to Canyon for the 1963 season.

"We didn't ask a specific amount—just what they would pay," he was quoted as having said.

"I talked to Frank Kimbrough (WT's athletic director) then and he made an unofficial offer of $20,000," Robison was quoted as having said. "He said the date under consideration (Nov. 16) was a bad time due to weather."

Kimbrough Wednesday told The Canyon News no such conversation took place.

He said he never was authorized to make such an offer. "They just don't want to play us and they won't tell us why," he declared.

Kimbrough said he has made Tech a guarantee of $30,000 on a home and home basis for the 1964, 65 and 66 seasons.

Nov. 16, 1963 is still open for West Texas State. The Amarillo paper quoted Robison as saying Tech already has a game scheduled for that date. The Tech athletic director declined to say with what team.

Rumor has it here that Texas Western has given Tech a guarantee of $30,000 to play on that date.

George McCarty, Texas Western athletic director, has been quoted as saying that negotiations are under way for the Miners to play Tech on that date but nothing has been settled.

Tech quit scheduling basketball games with WT in 1958, the year before Coach Metz LaFollette came to Canyon as head basketball coach.

"I've tried to get them to play every year," LaFollette told The Canyon News Wednesday.

"I've tried to schedule Polk," LaFollette went on. "He said the Amarillo paper and other people up here are trying to pressure him into playing us and that he wasn't going to be pressured into playing us any time."

LaFollette said Robison told him it would hurt Tech too much to be beaten by West Texas State.

"I told Frank (Kimbrough) that the football schedule was gone as soon as Robison got to athletic director at Tech," LaFollette declared.

Over the years West Texas has beaten Texas Tech 51 times in basketball as compared to 24 Red Raider victories. The Buffs defeated the Raiders five times in one year in the 1940s.

Dr. Cornette Monday told the student body that Kimbrough has done everything he could to get the schedule continued.

"They (Tech) have absolutely refused to do it," Cornette went on. "It's their responsibility."

Judge Remembers,
Youth Pays Fine

An Amarillo youth stormed into the office of Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson one day last week.

He wanted to complain about a farmers cow he had struck with his car. He was having a tough time locating the owner.

The young man's face looked familiar to Judge Wilson.

"What is your name?" Wilson asked him.

The boy told him. Wilson thumbed through a stack of warrants. Sure enough there was one for his visitor—for speeding.

A subdued young man shelled out $22.50 for a fine a year past due.

City Commission Passes
Water Policy Resolution

By JIM THOMAS

The City Commission Monday night passed a new water policy designed to evenly distribute the cost of city water to users.

The new policy calls for all applicants for city water service outside the city to pay all costs involved and to sign with the city a water use contract.

The commission felt that a new water policy was necessary in order to evenly distribute the water cost and to retain the cities' control over city water use and its proper distribution.

As proposed by City Manager Bill York the new policy covers five main divisions as follows: (1) Water extensions outside the city limits must have city commission approval. (2) Total cost of the extensions shall be born by the person requesting city water service. (3) The person paying for the extension will own it and will have the "rights and liabilities" as attached to the ownership. (4) The water tap fee shall be according to the prevailing rates at that time as determined by the City Commission. (5) And that use of city water outside the city limits shall require the signing of a use contract with the City of Canyon.

York said at the Monday meeting that future growth of Canyon might cause water supply problems from water users outside the city limits. He said they might occasionally experience low water pressure conditions. York said these same water users, even though warned, might eventually demand higher water pressures thus placing a hardship on the city water system.

Commission officers said the contract which water users outside city limits now have to sign will clearly state this problem and the limits of the city's responsibilities concerning it.

The water contract would also outline the city's control of the use and volume of city water consumed outside city limits specifically in case of future water shortage, commissioners pointed out.

The new policy covers the consideration of allowing any additional water taps on the Umbarger water main.

In other action, city fathers discussed appointing a 12 man committee for the city to study capital improvement needs. Proposals called for enlisting the aid of the present City Planning Commission as a basis for the newly discussed committee.

York pointed out to the commissioners the importance of showing city dwellers that the city commission is aware of the city's problems.

"The city's two main problems," he said, "are drainage and sewerage."

York stated he felt the city could handle its sewerage problems with funds already budgeted, but that drainage, due to its complexity, would require a more thorough study.

It was proposed at the meeting that a city drainage system could be executed in steps but objections were raised on the grounds that draining the city by stages would only increase the problem in undrained areas.

Commissioners felt these areas would then have to cope with their own runoff as well

Buffs Take On Tough
Miner Team Saturday

West Texas State faces another old rival Saturday night as the Texas Western Miners from El Paso visit Buffalo Bowl.

Close on the heels of last Saturday night's thriller at Lubbock, Athletic Director Frank Kimbrough expects a sell out if the weather holds.

This will be the 23rd contest between the Buffaloes and the Miners.

Of the last eleven matches, Texas Western has won 10.

The Miners will be smarting from a 19-6 defeat at the hands of North Texas and hungry for a win.

To add a personal touch, there is plenty of rivalry between Coach Joe Kerbel of the Buffs and Coach Bum Phillips of the Miners.

Both coached at Amarillo High School. Phillips followed up Kerbel in Sandiand. Each coach has a strong following among Amarillo fans carried over from the days they coached there.

Phillips is reputed to be a great defensive coach.

Coach Joe Rector, who scouted the Texas Western-North

Texas game last week end, has no illusions about the Miners being a push over.

He says they're tough. They have a strong all around team and have five starters back this year.

Rector said the Miners have two fine quarterbacks. Harrison Gamble is a good runner and he operates the offensive attack well for his team. He is an alternate.

Pat O'Donnell is a good passer. He is the first string quarterback.

Larry Durham is a fine running back for the Miners. They flip flop their backs and Durham is the halfback. Fullback Don Boyce is a hard runner and is a good blocker, tough on the defensive.

Some of their outstanding linemen include Mart Adams, a guard, and Louis Hernandez, an all-around lineman at tackle.

Center Leroy Johnson was the Miners finest defensive player in the North Texas game. He played middle line backer and made tackles all over the field.

Jim Evans and Ulysses Kendall play at end positions. Evans received three passes for a total of 37 yards Saturday night. Kendall played well on the defense.

Although the Miners lost to North Texas, the score was 6-6 deep in the third quarter and the Miners could have won the game with a break or two.

While Phillips stresses defense, Kerbel is an offensive coach who likes to score and entertain the fans at the same time.

Phillips will be trying to defense Pete Pedro and it could turn into a real test for Pistol Pete.

If good weather prevails, an all-time high attendance for Buffalo Bowl is a possibility. Tickets have been selling briskly early this week and the previous high figure of 17,000 for the Arizona state game last year may tumble.

In their first two games, the Buffaloes have played to 57,500 fans, drawing 16,000 in the home opener with Trinity and a capacity crowd of at least 41,000 last week at Lubbock.

The Buffs trimmed Trinity 61-0 and edged Tech 30-27.

The Miners hold a big edge in the series with West Texas. They have won 14 and the Buffs 8. Last year's 57-27 Buff win was the first time the Buffs had beat the Miners since 1950.

The Western squad plans to make camp at Clovis Friday night and continue the trip to Canyon just before game time Saturday.

Sorghum Growers Begin
GSPA Membership Drive

Bill Nelson of Amarillo Tuesday morning outlined some of the needs for an organization of grain sorghum producers.

Nelson spoke at a meeting of Randall County producers and elevator operators. He is with Grain Sorghum Producers Association of Amarillo.

Nelson said there is a need for work by the organizations in the fields of grain sorghum research, market development and service.

In the field of research, he said new uses for grain sorghum and its by products are being discovered all the time and this area presents a possibility of creating greater demand for the crop.

He pointed to pie filling as a good example. He said many cake operators and bakers are demanding grain sorghum starch for use in pastries because it makes a better filling.

In the field of market development, he noted that people even in the United States are not familiar with the qualities of grain sorghum as feed stuff.

"People of the Panhandle are familiar with grain sorghum," he said, "because we've been growing it here since the 1880s but people in other areas don't know how to feed it."

He said Grain Sorghum Producers Association is providing information to feeders all over the world on how to feed grain sorghum. He said grain sorghum is as good or even better than corn for use in feed lots.

In the field of service, he said GSPA can represent producers in legislative halls. Nelson's biggest complaint was that corn is almost universally favored in transportation, this being much cheaper in many instances for corn than for grain sorghum.

He urged Randall County producers to join GSPA immediately. Dues for producers is two pounds out of every 1,000 pounds of grain produced.

This would bring Randall County's goal to about $3500. Presiding at the meeting, which was attended by about 30 persons, was John Williams, county president.

The new policy covers

Grain Sorghum Producers Association officials made a membership appeal at a breakfast here Tuesday morning. Bill Nelson, center, spoke

Frank Kimbrough . . . Athletic Director

After 30 years of active coaching, Frank Kimbrough relinquished the head football reins at West Texas State in 1957 and became full time athletic director. His record as head football coach at Hardin-Simmons, Baylor and West Texas was 112 wins, 78 defeats and 8 ties.

A key man in the area campaign to raise $300,000 to help finance the Buffaloes' new stadium, Kimbrough is lining up some of the top football powers in the country for the new showplace. A former player at Hardin-Simmons, Kimbrough started coaching at Wayland College in 1927. He subsequently moved on to Plainview High School, Amarillo College, Hardin-Simmons, Baylor, North Carolina Pre-Flight (in World War II), and back to Baylor after the war before coming to West Texas. Kimbrough was named Tommy Harmon's "College Coach of the Year" in 1950 after guiding the Buffs to the Border Conference title and a Sun Bowl win over Cincinnati.

Ex-Mayor Clyde Woolley Visits Here Wednesday

By JIM THOMAS

Canyon City Mayor Clyde Woolley returned to the City Hall Wednesday.

Ex-Mayor Woolley that is. He is 79.

Mayor Woolley was Canyon's leading official away back in 1909 and 1910.

"Just visiting and looking over some records," he said.

The ex-mayor said he often drops into Canyon on his business trips through the Panhandle.

He now lives in Amarillo.

Asking Mayor Woolley what he remembers about his tour in office, he replied he bought the first fire truck Canyon ever had.

He said, "The townpeople nearly mobbed me!"

Born in London, Texas on February 3, 1883, Mayor Woolley is still active in business.

He is the largest individual contributor to the Opportunity Program at West Texas State College.

The Opportunity Program offers loans to needy WTSC students.

Mayor Woolley first backed the program in August, 1958, when he contributed $1650 to it.

A separate division of the program was set up for him and named the Clyde V. and Tulsa Woolley School Loan Fund.

Since his first contribution in 1958, Mayor Woolley has generously given the Opportunity Program $11,000.

It is remarkable to note that a total of 103 WTSC students have borrowed, paid back and reborrowed from the Woolley fund until today nearly $51,000 has been loaned out.

Buff Morris, Executive Vice-

President of the Opportunity Fund and Manager of Woolley Loan Fund, says, "Out of the 103 students who have borrowed from the fund, only one has failed to pay up. He still owes $75."

Morris says that in addition to being the largest single contributor to the Opportunity Program, Mr. Woolley is also one of its most dedicated boosters.

"Mr. Woolley often goes out of his way to help the students in the program in any way he can. He does more for them than merely donate money," said Morris.

West Texas State Team Places At Memphis

The West Texas State College Livestock Judging Team competed last Saturday in the annual Mid-South Livestock Judging competitions at Memphis, Tennessee. The WTSC team was 2nd in the placing and 8th over-all.

The Mid-South judging competitions host livestock judging teams from the 10 major agricultural colleges in the South.

It is considered the most important southern livestock judging competition of the year.

June Tripplett, first and only girl member of the West Texas team was 3rd high in individual competitions on the team and lost only 31 points out of a possible 600 on placing.

Charles Smallwood, head of the West Texas Agriculture school and coach of the team, said the next competition his group will take part in will be the American Royal Livestock Judging competitions on October 13th at Kansas City, Missouri.

Smallwood said his team had two boys there last year who placed in the top 10. They were Henry Holdman, 6th high, and Don Reeves, 10th.

Coach Smallwood says that while the Mid-south competitions are the most important in the South, the American Royal is the leading livestock judging competition in the United States.

Hosting about 30 teams from agricultural colleges all over the U. S., the American Royal itself is second in importance to the International Livestock Judging Competitions.

The Internationals will be held in Chicago this year on November 24th at Chicago's International Amphitheater.

Smallwood says he hopes to have the team place in the middle ranks or better.

He adds that last year, his WTS livestock team was 12th at the American Royal and 22nd at the International.

Coach Smallwood expects about 45 agricultural schools will be represented at the International.

"If we are in the top 50% we will represent West Texas State College very well."

When asked about the importance of having WTSC enter and participate in these competitions, Smallwood replied, "It is one of the most important teaching tools we have in teaching livestock selection to animal husbandry students."

He said "It gives a good comparison of our teaching and students with other colleges." Smallwood added that he thought all major agricultural colleges in the United States would be competing at the International.

In other business, the Chamber board voted to give playground equipment now located at Seventh and Eighteenth to the Canyon school system.

Board members heard a report by Jay Wooten, chairman of the agriculture committee. Wooten told the board that getting any appreciable acreage of sugar beets for Randall County farmers as a result of a sugar beet plant being built at Hereford is slim.

Wooten said Holley Sugar Beet Company moved quietly into Hereford recently and began signing up farmers for sugar beet acreage. Only three Randall farmers have signed up to produce beets and even they may not be granted an allotment.

Randall County Sugar Beet Association was formed here more than a year ago and contributed financially to the High Plains fight for sugar beet allotments.

Wooten said the limiting of allotments mostly to farmers in the Castro and Deaf Smith County areas was believed to be the doing of the sugar beet processing firm. He said representatives of the firm indicated that Randall farmers may be included in acreage allotments at some time in the future.

Jerry LaGrone, chairman of the fire prevention committee, told of plans for fire prevention week Oct. 7 through 13.

Mayor Delbert Lowes will be asked to proclaim the week Fire Prevention Week in Canyon.

A display of fire fighting equipment will be set up by the Canyon Fire Department at a suitable location on the elementary school yard and an explanation of the equipment will be given by a member of the fire department.

Each student will be given a Junior Fire Marshall Magazine and a Junior Fire Marshall helmet.

A fire prevention poster contest will be sponsored in the junior high school prizes of $10, $5, and $3 will be offered.

An essay contest on fire prevention will be sponsored in the high school with prizes of $10, $5, and $3 being offered.

The committee also recommended that at least one fire drill be held in each of the schools here during the week.

Around The Town

The game in Lubbock may have attracted more Canyon residents than remained here. Probably the largest group to travel together, excluding the team and band, was the chartered bus that took 17 couples down. They were the Sternbergs, the Bill Davis', the Jay Wootens, the Jack and Phil Swatwells, the Tom and Aven Lairs, the Don Olsons, the Neslers, the Bellahs, the Hal Erwins, the Murphy Whites, the Bob Lindseys, the H.R. Fultons, the J.D. Byrds, the Bill Hunters of Amarillo, and Frances Kerbel.

The Charlie Donells and the John Whinnerys went together as did the Elton Coxes and the Benny Coopers. In fact we have heard that some feel the entire ticket sale not allotted to Tech was sold to Canyonites.

Betty Markham was expecting her sister and her husband and daughter, the J.C. McNutts and Patty from Garden Grove, California this week, and was happily surprised when their mother, Mrs. A.L. Coulter was also a passenger in the car. Betty hopes that the four will be here for a couple of weeks.

The Buddy Prices and the Joe Curries have returned home after being in San Antonio for five days attending a convention.

Dr. J.A. Hill's sister, Mrs. Sam Monroe, and her husband, from Stephenville, and their son Bill from Pampa, have been visitors this week in the Hill home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hagar of Siloam Springs, Ark., arrived in Canyon last Sunday to spend several weeks with her sisters Mrs. Minnie Bonds, Mrs. Janana Pond, and Mrs. Verna Trout.

Marie Cooper is home from Minneapolis where she attended the Northwest Beauty Trade Show. This group must be impressed with Marie as this was her second invitation to do the show for them.

Peggy Jones was honored with a surprise birthday party in celebration of her twenty-first birthday--again. Understand that she received such utilitarian gifts as knee-length stockings with runners, cuticle remover, and a used baby bottle.

Except for the game, rain, and the fight, news is light, so please help us stay current with anything that may be of interest. See you next week.

MR. AND MRS. JIM CUNNINGHAM

Gay Cunningham Likes Being Football Wife

By TROY MARTIN

Big Jim Cunningham got one of the finest bonuses ever received by a West Texas State football player as a result of signing on with the Buffs. He met and married charming Gay Hall, a pretty coed from Littlefield.

The Cunninghams are a happy football couple. Gay says she likes being a football wife. Jim is from DeKalb but he played football his senior year in high school for the Yokohama Red Devils after his father was transferred to Japan. Jim is a second semester senior now and this is his last year to wear the maroon and white livery of the Buffalo football team. He is a physical education major and history minor.

Gay is a history major. Her minor is social studies. The Cunninghams hope to teach when they finish school.

The Cunninghams were married a year ago last summer. Gay's only complaint is that she sees him so little during football season.

But this is paid for, to some extent, by the extra excitement of watching football games in which her husband is playing.

Jim eats his meals at the WT training table during football season. Gay dines at home alone, for the most part.

Gay has lots of confidence in Big Jim and the Buffaloes. She says she's going to all the games except those played in Arizona.

"I can't go there because I'm saving money to go to the bowl game the Buffs are going to play on New Years Day," Gay declared.

"We've got to play in one first," Jim admonished.

"We will!" Gay replied.

Wow! Buffs 30; Tech 27!

Teams Lose Two Games To Plainview

There was little joy in Lubbock Saturday night for, like Casey, Mighty H.L. Daniels had struck out and West Texas State had upset the Texas Tech Red Raiders 30 to 27 before 41,000 howling fans.

Twice the vaunted Raider fullback faced the uprisings on field goal attempts and twice the pigskin went awry or was blocked.

It was Daniels' toe that made the difference in last year's game with Texas Tech. In that contest he kicked three field goals to nudge the Buffs 16 to 14.

Ironically, it was by the margin of a field goal booted by WT's Hoot Gibson that the Raiders went down to defeat Saturday night.

Raider second team quarterback, Cannon, also tried a field goal from 35 yards out but failed to split the uprights.

WT's Hooter not only kicked the field goal which spelled victory for the Buffs, but he also stopped what appeared certain to be a touchdown run by Raider Quarterback Johnny Lovelace.

Gibson used plane geometry to stop the big Raider on the 10 yard line after a 75-yard kick off return.

"I knew I couldn't outrun him so I took an angle on him," Gibson explained in the dressing room.

But it was little Peter Pedro who was the hero of the game. Fans from both sides of the stadium applauded his lightning bursts of speed which gave the Buffs the edge.

"He's better than he was a year ago," commented Raider Coach J.T. King in admiration. Pedro rolled up 157 yards in 22 carries and tossed the first pass of his career. That one was to Jerry Don Logan for a touchdown.

It took the Buffs three downs to lose the ball on a third quick kick.

The Raiders scored with apparent ease in ten downs and then converted.

Pedro came uncorked on the first play from scrimmage at the 30. He reversed, skirted left end and went to the Raider 31.

Munday picked up to the 29 and then Pete went to the 18 on another reverse. He caught a Logan pass on the three. Logan went to the one and then Pedro was over for the touchdown.

Logan's kick was good and was never a one-sided contest after that.

Pedro scored two of WT's touchdowns while the other two were scored by Logan and Jerry Richardson.

Richardson took a pitch out from Gibson and went around right end early in the second quarter for West Texas State's second touchdown.

Gibson's field goal with 55 seconds remaining gave the Buffs a 16 to 7 lead at the end of the first half.

Pedro scored from the 10 yard line in the third quarter and then early in the fourth tossed a left handed pass to Logan for a marker.

Logan kicked two extra points for the Buffs and Jim Dawson one.

Hunt made two of Tech's touchdowns while Gill accounted for the remaining two. Daniels converted on three out of four tries.

Here's how the coaches summed up the performances of the Buff individual team members in the game.

"Jim Ostrander did an excellent job on both offense and defense," said Coach Jack Harris. "He really improved over the Trinity game."

Harris said Woody Gilliland did a fine job on offense. Benny George and Quinton Epinette showed a lot of improvement.

"They should improve as the season goes along and they gain experience," Harris declared. "Gilliland made two catches that really helped us at crucial points."

Coach Harris went on. "We are still trying to bring along three or four other ends that will strengthen our position a great deal."

Joe Rector praised Tackle Jim Cunningham. "He played good offensive football and Bob Petrich did a fine job on defense. John Varnell did a good job considering the fact that he hasn't worked out a great deal."

"Dory Funk, as usual, did a fine job for us."

Rated as "top boy" among the guards was Stu Johnson. "He was tops on both offense and defense," said Coach Billy Willingham.

Jack Mayfield came in for his share of the praise.

"Jack did us a fine job on defense," Willingham declared. "He was instrumental in breaking up a Tech drive by breaking up a pass. Both boys did some good blocking on Pete's reverses."

Willingham said Eugene Baldwin and Jim Denny did a surprisingly good job of stopping Johnny Lovelace up the middle.

"Charles Daves did a good job at center," said Willingham. "He had 11 tackles to his credit and four or five assists."

Doc Rowell showed up well, too, the coach declared.

Freshman coach, Allen Simpson, said Canyon's freshman team lost to Coronado of Plainview by a score of 14 to 0 in their last game. Simpson went on to say the Eagles should have won but just couldn't get fired up.

EAGLE "B" TEAM GAME Eagle "B" team coach, Bobby Byrd, said he was proud of his team and their showing against Plainview's "B" team in their last game. Byrd said he felt like the Eagles did a really good job in holding the AAAA team to a score of only 6 points.

Byrd said he and the Plainview coaches felt like two of the Eagles did an outstanding job. These boys are George Cox, an end, and Jody Sheets, a guard.

The final score was Plainview 6, Canyon 0.

Along The Sideline

West Texas State's Buffaloes face a real test Saturday night. A lot of people are shrugging off the Miners from El Paso.

According to the scouting report they could be tough. They want to win. Coach Bum Phillips wants to win.

It's no secret that there is a keen personal rivalry between Coaches Joe Kerbel and Phillips.

Phillips would give his eye teeth for a win. Think of how he'd celebrate if he were to beat WT.

The Buffaloes are like an old time gun fighter. They're beginning to get a reputation and everyone they play wants their scalp and they want it bad.

Kerbel is worried and he makes no bones about it. We just hope the team is a little worried. They're great and they proved it Saturday night.

But it's just like Kerbel says. You eat fried chicken this Saturday and someone comes up and makes you look silly the next time you go out.

Winitis--a disease that has proved fatal to many a football team--is what Joe is talking about.

The Buffs built to a peak to meet the Red Raiders last Saturday. Was that the high tide of their season. If it was, then it's a crying shame because we still have eight more games to go.

Three of the season's toughest still loom in the future--two Arizona teams and Bowling Green.

We understand Polk Robinson, Tech athletic director, is doing some crying about pressure being brought on him to schedule West Texas State. We don't know if this is true or not but the folks at Tech ought to know all about pressure.

Folks down Lubbock way sent in their Neiman-Marcus cards, and we've heard that some Methodist churches in the Lubbock area threatened to sever financial support to SMU in an effort to pressure Southern Methodist to vote for Tech's bid for Southwest Conference membership a few years back.

The Red Raiders ought to know all about pressure.

 We ribbed Joe Kelly, kindly sport scribe with the Avalanche-Journal, last Saturday night about the Tech scheduling. All he would say was, "Go see Polk Robinson."

Bill Hart, another Lubbock sports writer quipped, "We can't go on playing junior colleges."

For Mr. Hart's information, West Texas State was a four-year institution when cow chips, cactus and rattlesnakes was all that graced the campus at Texas Tech.

 Sports disappointment of the year was the closed TV viewing of the Liston-Patterson fight. It didn't last long enough to get the sets warmed up.

We heard of one place where circuit trouble developed just before the fight came on and the bout was over by the time the picture was restored.

The crowd rioted.

Pete Pedro is shown here rambling behind good blocking. Gene Baldwin (65) in the foreground is a part of the forward screen. At the extreme left is Dory Funk (77), Doc Rowell (56) and Jim Denny (63) are rushing in laterally to give protection. Raider fullback H.L. Daniel (30) has the hopeless assignment of trying to catch Pistol Pete.

Eagles Out For Win Over Blackhawk Eleven

The Canyon Eagles are out to beat the Phillips Blackhaws, which they haven't done since 1956, here Friday night. The Eagles went down to the Hawks 24-0 last year, and they haven't forgotten it!

Eagle Head coach, Jeep Webb, said the Hawks are looking very good this year. He also said this game will be a struggle to win, but the boys are very capable of winning.

Webb said the Eagles were rather disappointed in themselves after Friday, but they are getting ready for the game ahead.

The Eagle head coach said he felt like the Eagles played a good game, on the whole, against Dalhart, but they made many mistakes, which they are trying to correct before they meet Phillips here Friday.

Webb said the Blackhaws seem to think they can't be beaten, which is a good attitude for the team to have. However, the Eagles seem to think they can beat the Hawks if they work hard, but they don't expect the game to be an easy one.

There are two Eagles who won't start Friday because of injuries. These are Don Breitling who has a leg injury and Jim Whinnery who has an ankle injury. Breitling is a quarterback for the Eagles, and Whinnery is a halfback. The rest of the Eagle line-up will be the same as last week's.

Ronny Brock Rated Tops By Boosters

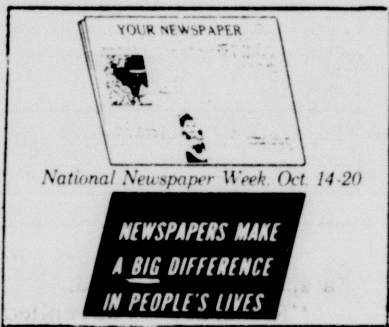

Ronny Brock, a senior guard, was named outstanding player of the week Tuesday night by members of the Canyon Eagle Booster Club as that group met at the high school cafeteria.

Selection was made because of his performance in the Dalhart game.

Principal speaker at Tuesday night's meeting was Frank Kimbrough, athletic director at West Texas State College.

Guests of honor were freshmen and B teams and their parents. Approximately 100 persons attended. Coach Glascock reported on his scouting trip to Phillips.

Film on the Dalhart game was shown.

Wolves Put Bite On Canyon Eagles 32-18

By GARY LEE

The Dalhart Wolves put down the Canyon Eagles in an action-packed, bleacher-packed game for their first defeat of the season Friday night at Dalhart Memorial Stadium 32 to 18.

The Eagles received the kick from Dalhart, and the action began.

Jerry Vance made a nice 30 yard return to the Wolves, but the Eagles lost the ball on the next play as result of a fumble.

Jim McCleskey, Dalhart fullback, carried the ball the first time for 5 yards. McCleskey picked up 1 more yard for the Wolves off left tackle.

John Colquitt, Wolf halfback picked up 1 yard, then McCleskey was back to carry.

McCleskey made 4 up the middle; he came back to make 4 on the right side; then he made 5 off right tackle. McCleskey carried again trying to make 1 yard for the first-and-ten, but Bill Phillips, Eagle linebacker, crashed through the line and stopped the 200 pound fullback 1 yard behind the line of scrimmage.

The Eagles took over on downs, and Harry Lisle, Eagle halfback, made 9 yards up the middle. Lisle then picked up 5 off left tackle.

The Eagles were held to no gain the next play.

Davis Price, Eagle Quarterback, carried on the optional around left end and was forced to pitch to Bobby Evans, Eagle halfback, who made 10 more yards.

Vance made 13 yards around left end for the Eagles. Lisle charged for 6 up the middle. Vance carried for 7 more around right end. Price attempted a pass to Lisle, but Louie Allred, Wolf quarterback, intercepted the ball for Dalhart.

McCleskey made 2 for the Wolves. Larry Atkinson, another Dalhart quarterback, stepped off 18 yards around left end.

Then McCleskey made 8 up the middle and came back for 4 more up the middle. John Colquitt made 6 on the right side. Allred carried around left end, but he was stopped on the line by Jim Whinnery, Eagle halfback.

McCleskey picked up 2. John Colquitt made 4 around left end. He carried around right end for 5 before Phillips nailed him for the Eagles. Then he managed to advance 3 yards off the left side again.

McCleskey carried on the last play of the first quarter for 5 yards up the middle. Jeff Colquitt, another Wolf halfback, picked up 3 yards off left tackle.

John Colquitt ran 8 yards around right end leaving a string of Eagle tacklers.

John Colquitt came back with 7 yards for the first touchdown of the game. The extra point attempt was no good. The Eagles took the ball on their 3 yard line, and Harry Lisle executed a 30 yard return.

Vance made 3 yards off the left side. Lisle matched Vance's 3 on the right side. Price attempted another pass, but it also failed.

Vance made 4 off the left tackle. Price ran the optional and was forced to pitch to Lisle who took a six yard loss. Price ran the optional to the other side and was forced to pitch to Lisle who took a 5 yard loss that time.

Another pass was attempted, but it was no good, and the Eagles were forced to punt.

Allred fielded the ball for the Wolves, but Vance stopped him with no gain. Canyon took the ball on a fumble. Price carried the ball straight ahead for the first Eagle score.

The extra point was no good, and the score was 6 to 6. The Wolves received the ball off the toe of Bobby Evans. Atkinson returned the ball 30 yards before being tackled by Davis Price. The Eagles took over on a fumble which was covered by Price.

Vance picked up 7 yards in two plays. Lisle made 4 off left tackle. Vance made 5 off the left side. Lisle carried the ball for 4 yards. Lisle made 3 yards up the middle before being stopped by Ronny McClendon, Wolf end. Vance went 20 yards for a touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good, and the score was 12 to 6.

The Eagles kicked to Dalhart, and Jeff Colquitt returned the ball 15 yards.

John Colquitt carried the ball left and was thrown for a one yard loss by Bob Begert, Eagle end. John Colquitt carried the ball 49 yards on a reverse.

McCleskey picked up 3 yards for the Wolves. John Colquitt carried and was thrown for a loss by Bill Phillips.

McCleskey made 3 before being stopped by end, Bob Begert. Allred passed to Johnny Ramirez who made a spectacular catch on the goal line.

The extra point attempt failed, and the score was 12 to 12. The Eagles took the ball on the kick and returned it 10 yards.

Price took to the air and after 2 attempts connected with Eddie Poole, Eagle end, for 12 yards. Price threw again, and John Colquitt intercepted the ball for the Wolves, but there was a penalty, and the Eagles kept possession of the ball.

Vance made 1 yard on the draw play. Price made 2 more pass attempts, but both failed. Then Price connected to Lisle for 15 yards. Another pass attempt by Price ended the first half of the game.

Dalhart received the kick to start the second half of the game. Jeff Colquitt returned the ball 10 yards before Bill Phillips made the stop for the Eagles.

McCleskey managed to make 12 more yards for the Wolves. McCleskey made 8 more yards before being stopped by John Stritzel, Eagle center.

It was McCleskey again for 2 before Ronnie Brock, Eagle guard, made the tackle. McCleskey again carried for 7 yards before Stritzel and Price downed him.

John Colquitt managed only 1 yard before Begert and Lisle stopped him. Allred carried for 20 yards before Lisle brought him down. McCleskey was held to no gain by Tim White.

Allred made 3 yards before Phillips stopped him. The Eagles took the ball on downs. Vance made 7 yards up the middle. Evans had made 10 yards when McCleskey tackled him.

Kerbel Weeps For Joy As Buffs Trip Raiders

By Troy Martin

Overcome with emotion, Coach Joe Kerbel shed tears of joy Saturday night as he rushed onto the field to greet his team. Kerbel was embraced by his son, Joe, Jr., who had been on the sideline with his father and by his daughter, Sharon, who suddenly appeared as the final whistle sounded.

"I've never been so proud of a team," Kerbel choked.

The great crowd--largest ever assembled for any purpose in the Panhandle-South Plains area--stood for a moment in almost silent tribute to a great game.

Some 41,000 fans had paid at least $130,000 to see two top offensive football machines try to outscore each other.

High above in the stands, thousands lined the banister overlooking the concrete slot that led to the Buffalo dressing room. They called friendly greetings as the Buffalo Herd moved through the slot.

Several small boys rushed down from the stands for Peter Pedro's autograph.

Saturday night's game ends the 26-year rivalry between the two schools.

Coach Kerbel had something to say about that, too.

"The people of this area deserve this game," he said. "It's a pretty good country ball game. It rates at the top. We beat them but that makes no difference now. That's football. Next week we get another chance to try to show again. Next week they have another ball game."

"You have to forget it and start all over again next week. You may eat fried chicken tonight but someone makes you look terrible the next time."

"That's what the game means to kids."

Kerbel himself probably felt no more exhilaration than did Ricky Richardson, 9-year-old brother of Jerry Richardson. He was among the first fans to reach the dressing room. There at the door the little guy stood, tears of pride brimming in his eyes.

"I want to see my big brother," he stated quietly.

"What's your name, son?" a sports writer asked.

"Richardson," he replied and then the dressing room door opened and the youngster was inside.

As usual, Pedro quietly declined the lions share of credit he was given for the win.

"Everyone played their best," he said. "I guess when you want something had enough you get it. Blocking was great. Yes sir, Tech has a fine ball club. The club is about the same this year as last year. I think we just played a little harder. We remembered what happened to us last year."

Of his touchdown pass to Jerry Don Logan, Pete said it was the first pass he'd ever thrown in a game. Tech players were visibly shaken by the Pedro pass and many of them said so in the dressing room later.

Hoot Gibson stopped Tech's Johnny Lovelace just before the half on a 75-yard run that might have turned the tables on West Texas.

"He can run faster than I," Gibson said in the dressing room. "I just got the right angle on him."

Tech Coach J.T. King conceded that West Texas has a ball club which could take care of itself in any competition.

"They're a lot further along than we are," King declared.

"I don't see where anyone could say we have more depth than you (WT) do," he went on. "They write about ours and you've got it."

"I thought we went after them. I don't think this will hurt our ball club. I think Tech did a good job."

"Pete is a great runner. He proved that tonight. You have a fine offensive team."

King's answer was brittle and cold when asked about continuing the rivalry between the two schools.

"I don't make the schedules," he said.

"It was a question which I naturally had to ask, coach," the reporter told him.

"Well, it's one I don't have to answer," King snapped.

Meanwhile, back in the West

Texas dressing room happy fans poured in to congratulate the coaches and players.

to ride a donkey every time West Texas defeats Tech.

"Joe Curry has been fattening him up and I hope taming him down," the WT president declared somewhat ruefully as he pondered the prospect.

Among those in the dressing room slapping team members and coaches on the back were J.D. Byrd, Bob Bellah, Murphy White, Roscoe Richardson and perhaps a score more.

Just outside the dressing room waiting were several wives of coaches and players, among them Mrs. Joe Kerbel.

Here is the Canyon Eagle B team and they are the boys you will be seeing on the varsity in the years to come. Front row left to right are, James Cabe, Jody Sheets, Randy Buttrill, Jody Richardson, Terry Lawson, Tommy Sanford, and

Dory Funk, Buff Tackle, makes some running room for Pistol Pete in the Buff-Red Raider game Saturday night. Funk (77) is shown making contact with Raider end, Gladson. At far left and angling in is Raider tackle, Ken Milliken (74) and coming up behind Gladson in an effort to assist is Raider halfback, McEntire (25).

Rain Portends Good Pasture Says Brazzil

By JIM THOMAS

County Agent John Brazzil says he has reports of rainfall in Randall County of up to one and one-half inches, although he adds that measurements in any one area may not give an accurate picture for the whole county.

Dr. M.B. Measamer, Chairman of the WTSC Geography Department and keeper of Canyon's official rain gauge said he has measured a total rainfall of 7/10 of an inch as of Tuesday evening.

Brazzil pointed out the primary interest in the recent rains centers around their effect on the winter wheat crops.

"Winter wheat is the big crop in Randall County. More Farm acreage is planted in winter wheat in Randall County than any other crop," he said.

The County Agent stated, "These rains have fallen at an opportune time as far as effecting the winter wheat season."

Brazzil explained this year's winter wheat crop will be primarily put on summer fallowed acres.

"Since these acres were not placed in use in 1962, their sub-soil moisture is in excellent shape," he said.

Continuation of sty by Jim T. Brazzil adds that up until this week there have been several places in the county that were too dry to plant.

"The topsoil didn't have enough moisture in it to germinate the seeds," he said.

Agent Brazzil feels, however, this rain has been a very timely one since it came at the beginning of the planting season.

He says it is also good because it is a soft, general rain without hail and high winds.

"High humidities have helped also," he said.

Agent Brazzil further explained, "A hot, dry wind, even after these good rains would evaporate much of the moisture from the important top layers of soil."

Brazzil says winter wheat could be planted anywhere in the county because of these rains.

"Prior to this week," he says, "30% to 50% of the winter wheat to be planted this year had already been put in the ground."

"This rain will not only help the wheat recently planted but will help bring up the tender shoots already above ground," he added.

Brazzil feels the rains will set the ground moisture up just fine for the fall planting.

County Agent Brazzil said, "Another of the big values of this rain is the good possibility it brings of excellent winter wheat pasturing."

He said, "Wheat pasturing is a very valuable by-product of winter wheat farming," adding, "In good winter wheat years it is not unusual for wheat farmers to gain $10 per acre from wheat pasture grazing."

Brazzil feels because cattle raising is one of the leading sources of income in the county, that in exceptional years winter wheat pasturing could be as valuable as the wheat crop itself.

He said, "Good wheat pasturing means good cattle gains."

Agent Brazzil said, "Grain sorghums, as the second most important cultivated crop in the county, would also be favorably effected by the recent rains."

Brazzil said the sorghum harvest season is still ahead of us.

He added, "The way the rains have fallen leads me to expect no damage to the maturing crops."

Brazzil said, "Even though the rains themselves won't add much to the actual growth of the sorghums, the real value is that the crops weren't weather-damaged as has happened in the past."

Agent Brazzil said, "This is about as timely and beneficial a rain as we could expect. We have been fortunate in getting it when we did," he added.

Brazzil said many oldtimers in the county can't recall a time when rains, grass and stock have been in better shape.

Mr. R.B. Gist of a long-time wheat growing family in Randall County, is quoted as saying he "feels this rain is just wonderful."

Mr. Gist is President of the Randall County Farm Bureau, the largest farming organization in the county.

He is also Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

right to know," McGlasson retorted.

McGlasson asked the commissioners several questions concerning maintenance and storage. He suggested that 42 machines be put on the proposition with having the right to buy fewer if that many are not needed.

"Why not set it on 100 machines and kill it," said Commissioner C. Y. Johnson.

It was Judge Angel who suggested the compromise figure of 34. Beckman made a motion that number be put into the proposition for the voters' consideration and the Commissioner Glenn Dowlen seconded it.

Both Jones and Johnson voted no and then Angel cast the tie-breaker.

The machines are priced at $1,798 each for a total of $61,132. The company selling the machines have loaned 12 others to the county for use through 1962, according to Judge Angel.

In other business, the court voted to pay half of the commissioners' salaries out of the general fund. Until now it has been paid out of road and bridge funds.

Commissioners also approved the county's budget of $762,387.51 for 1963. Monday was set as the date for public hearing on the budget. No one showed up.

Central and South America, engagements at hotels in New York City, TV in Europe and tours of Spain, Italy, France and Switzerland. Completing the group are Manuel Molina, singer and guitarist, two girl dancers and a pianist.

Other programs will be announced following the membership campaign.

Dr. Ples Harper, campaign chairman, points out the importance of the association to the cultural improvement of Canyon. Canyon is the smallest of several Panhandle towns offering the community concerts.

Members have reciprocity with nearby cities of Clovis, Lubbock, Plainview and Shamrock. Some of these communities have already announced impressive programs for this season, according to Mrs. Joseph Findley.

Last season was one of the most successful on record, and Dr. Harper and other workers express hopes that this year's response to the membership campaign will be even greater.

Memberships are $7.50 for adults and $4.00 for students. They may be purchased only during this week, and will entitle the holder to attendance at all recitals presented this season.

Bonuses of special records will be given to the two students in public school and college who sell the greatest number of memberships.

Headquarters at Public Service Co. are open 10:00 to 4:30 today and tomorrow, and 9:00 to 12:00 noon Saturday. Telephone number is 05-3056. A sub-station is open in the foyer of the Fine Arts Building at WTSC, from 12:45 to 3:00 daily.

Officers in the 1962-63 Canyon association are Mrs. A.W. Lair, president; Raymond Railroad, vice president; Oscar Schuette, treasurer; Gene Morrison, concerts manager; Mrs. Gerald Dietz, recording secretary; Mrs. James Murphy White, social chairman; Dr. Ples Harper, membership chairman; Mrs. Troy Martin, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Joseph Findley, ex-officio member and corresponding secretary.

There are some 20 board members.

Zoning Board Approves Site

Canyon Zoning Commission Tuesday night heard and approved a rezoning request by Charles Gerald of Canyon. The request was for Block 31, Normal Edition, on the south side of town.

Gerald said he is considering construction of a new and modern restaurant on the rezoned property. "We are thinking in terms of $90,000 to $100,000," he said.

Gerald emphasized the restaurant is still in the planning stage.

He said he couldn't make a definite decision to go ahead with the project for at least three more weeks.

He did say, however, the restaurant would be something Canyon could well be proud of.

Plans include a coffee shop and dining room using china and linen in the best restaurant style.

Gerald said there is a definite need and a definite place for such a facility in Canyon.

City Manager Bill York said, "The City Zoning Commission saw fit to approve the request and recommended to the City Council the property be rezoned from 'Dwelling' to 'Commercial.'"

York said the City Commission will take the item under advisement at their next meeting.

The next scheduled meeting will be on October 8.

in the Amarillo district were present at the meeting, and an officer leadership school for all the district officers was held.

Charles, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Evers of Canyon, is president of the Canyon FFA Chapter this year and was also president of the club last year. He is a member of the National Honor Society and several other school clubs, and plans to run for FFA President of Area I at the area convention which will be held in Lubbock this spring.

According to Leon Bagwell, agriculture instructor at Canyon High School, a Canyon boy has been elected president of the Amarillo District for the past three years.

as that dumped on their doorstep by the piecemeal system.

Mayor Delbert Lowes, who is recovering from surgery, was not present. Presiding over the meeting was John Williams, mayor pro tem.

The commissioners postponed discussion of the proposed capitol improvements study commission until the mayor could participate.

City Manager York told the commissioners the city sewerage treatment plant was "in fine shape" and it could presently double its minimum health standards and still be within the minimum state health requirements.

Upon request by York, the City Commissioners authorized him to start engineering estimates to enlarge the present plant.

York said he felt the sewerage plant should be able to stay ahead of future needs brought on by continued city growth.

The commissioners also agreed to allow a cattle grazing permit for an area north of city park with the understanding that the permit would automatically expire February 1, 1963 and that after that date no permits would be given for grazing livestock within the

Randall Entries Do Well

Randall County exhibitors at the Tri-State Fair did well in all departments last week. While not all winnings are known from all the departments at this time the following is a partial list.

In the horticultural and crops show these people had winning exhibits: Cindy Gruner; Mrs. E. W. Bourn; John Plank; Frank Begert; Cecil Henry; Mrs. Max Hoffman; George Schaeffer; Levi Cole; Bob Gruner; Willie Wieck; and Vincent Meyer.

In the Holstein division of the Dairy Cattle show Randall County exhibitors were consistent winners. Richmond Hales had several first place winners. He had the senior champion female and the Grand Champion female of the show. Joe V. and Chester Hales had many win-city limits.

Reasons given for the action, in addition to the possible health hazards involved, were growth of city residential areas and projected street paving.

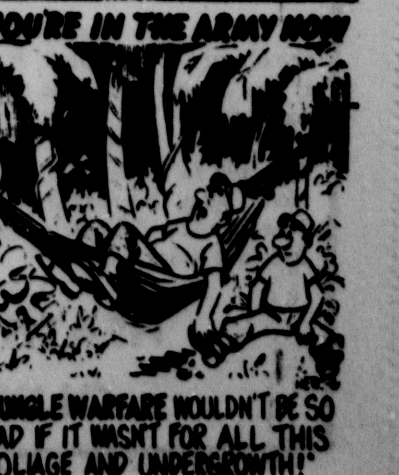

ners in this department

Eddie and Mike Hinders entered this competition for the first time and were showing against experienced exhibitors. Eddie showed his heifer to the first place in his class and went on to show this same heifer to be the Junior Champion of the show. Mike did well in his class.

Jack Metcalf exhibited his herd of registered Poland China hogs and made several important placings. Art Miller and Glenn Shepard of Happy placed well.

The exhibitor list in the horse show is not known. L. S. Johnston did take several placings in one division.

Susan Lindeman had a blue ribbon entry in the sponge cake division of the foods show.

G.W. Webb Has Interesting Story

by GLENN WILSON

"Does your club meet with you today?" the new grocery checker was stalling for time; hoping the elderly gentleman would, once again, voluntarily repeat his initials as she dated his ticket. "Yes, mam", he answered, "...and I hope they'll like the refreshments."

Then he added with a polite smile, "If you're still having trouble with my initials, just remember, the G.W. stands for the Father of our country. So this reporter is not likely to again forget the initials of George Washington Webb."

One's first impression of this neatly dressed, soft spoken, 85 year-old pioneer, might be that of retired minister, teacher, Doctor or merchant, but never that of a lawman. Yet Mr. Webb served in that capacity for many years, beginning as a deputy sheriff before he was of age, being referred to as 'The Kid', because of his youth.

Mr. Webb has been a leading citizen of Canyon since 1926. A widower since 1957, he resides with his daughter, Mrs. Carrol Souther and her husband at 200 20th St. The Webbs had one son, Fuqua, who passed away in 1950.

Presiding at the 48th annual meeting of the 'Old Settlers of the Plains,' he paid tribute to the oldest member present as he presented a bouquet to 93-year-old Mrs. R.M. Morris of Clarendon on Sept. 19, when 60 Clarendon people gathered in Amarillo's Elwood Park.

George Washington Webb was born Aug. 26, 1877, at Murfreesboro, Tenn. His birthplace, according to his mother's diary, was named after her old family physician, Dr. Murphy. His mother, whose maiden name was MacRae, was Scotch-Irish. The MacRae's came from Glasgow, Scotland and first settled in Hamovier Co., Virginia. Mr. Webb's father's people were English-Canadian. He likes to tell how his grandfather and the negro, Rueben, walked from Richmond, Virginia to north-east of Murfreesboro, Tenn., carrying with them a crosscut saw, drawing knife, and mat-tocks. After locating a building site, they cut timber, and built a home.

Mr. Webb came to Texas 72 years ago, when the state was one "huge cow pasture" without fences, but a plentiful supply of centipedes, tarantulas, and rattlesnakes.

"We got our directions from the Wichita mountains," he said, and remembers that the first barbed wire was called "bull wire" because of its long barbs. It was made by Mr. Bush and his sons-in-law in Gailburg, Ill. Mr. Bush owned most of the land west of Amarillo past Bushland. The bull wire was too heavy to keep on the post and was soon replaced by a lighter variety with shorter barbs.

Mr. Webb's first job in Texas was that of cowboy for Mr. Tom Penniston who chose 20 or 30 men with understanding of cattle and horses, to round-up about 5,000 wild animals, with "rocking chair horns", from around the Wichita streams, and drive them down the old Chisholm Trail to market in Dodge City, Kansas.

"They were sure wild things," Mr. Webb relates, "it always amused me though, how they'd get their big old heads behind a little bush and think they were hid. We traveled about 7 to 10 miles a day and our Spanish ponies carried us 1/2 day. They had lots of 'cow-sense' and carried their dinner with them. That is, they grazed the long grass, when we let down the reins."

"My first job on the trail was wrangling horses. I looked after about 104 horses that grazed apart from the cattle, but kept up with the herd as we traveled. These ponies were trained so that when you'd throw a rope on their backs, they'd stop in their tracks."

There was always a scout who went ahead to arrange for bedding ground for the cattle, for water and fuel. After one at a time the cattle lay down, four men were placed on guard, one going one way, one another, in a circle around the herd. "I stood first guard, and the evening star was my clock--when it went down, my time was up. In August it rained," and shaking his head, Mr. Webb said, "Mrs. Wilson, I've thought so much that the good Lord sure looked after us--why, it was 17 days before we could hang our blankets out to dry, but we rolled up in them every night just the same."

"How did we keep the herd from running wild?--Well, they just weren't very anxious to run after all that driving, unless something scared them. What did we have to eat?--We sure didn't have much variety."

Mr. Webb states that he didn't have much chance to go to school but took advantage of every opportunity to learn. He was married to Mary Elizabeth Fuqua in 1898 and after one of the long trips to Dodge City, went with her to a six months school taught by a Presbyterian preacher, Bro. Brawley. Mrs. Webb was better known as "Mittie", a name given her by a trusty negro in Tippleo, Mississippi.

"The Kid" began his law career as deputy sheriff for J. R. Henry in Quanah. He worked with Capt. McMurry and Capt. McDonald of the Texas Rangers. "This was practically the only law west of the Mississippi," he said. "I had one Ranger, John L. Sullivan who stood 6 ft. 4, a two gun man with long, handle bar mustache he could stretch back over his ears. I went with him once to Vernon to the 'Four Paw Circus', where he was named 'Marshall of the Day'."

Trouble was brewing once between the Texas Rangers and Sheriff Matthews of Childress; which developed into a shooting scrape in Quanah when Capt. McDonald and Matthews "shot it out". Matthews was killed. "I helped carry Capt. McDonald to the back of the old Woolbright Drug Store where the druggist discovered that two thicknesses of 'Star Tobacco' in his left shirt pocket had saved his life."

While Mr. Webb was jailor in Quanah, he was asked to prosecute a group of Negro musicians who had played for a dance in the old Quanah Hotel. The negroes, who were from Ft. Worth, and not allowed in Quanah, had been engaged by a group of single men around the country. Mr. Webb obliged the men by keeping the negroes in the run around of the jail. That night one broke out with small pox! The next day they were taken to a small house southeast of Quanah and placed under a 9 day quarantine with guards. During the night they all escaped for which the guards were glad.

There had been about 500 people at the dance, who because of their exposure, were taken to a place near a creek out from Quanah and supplies were carried to them for every need, including snake bites. Constable Edd Maldon decided they needed something to drink, so the commissioners decided to send out a barrel of "Mellow Blossom Whiskey".

"This actually happened," Mr. Webb declared. "Nails were driven around the barrel on which tin cups were hung to catch the whiskey--just a few people got intoxicated, including the Doctor."

After moving to Canyon, Mr. Webb served as the deputy to Mr. Cantrell and L.S. Johnston. Besides his career as lawman he worked as a railroad agent for 17 years and reported the weather long before there was a weather station. During World War II he ran the airfield near Amarillo for Mr. Cox, training over 5,000 civilians to fly and training 1,800 young men who participated in World War II.

To the question, "During your career as lawman, did you ever find it necessary to shoot a man?" "No," Mr. Webb replied, "but there was a couple of times when I thought I'd have to. After one man cut another up rather badly, I had chased him across the wagon yard, and as he turned toward me with his hand on his gun, I reached for mine, and shouted, 'Get your hands up!' and to my glad surprise, he did!"

"Then one night, while I was keeping the jail at Quanah, several pretty bad men, already sentenced to the penitentiary, started sawing a hole in the floor with saws made from the steel shanks of their shoes--but they surrendered without a struggle."

The Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Gilbert Irlbeck. Mrs. Wire Wright, president, presided at the business meeting. Miss Sally Fields, home demonstration agent, presented a program titled "Essential Extras". It included information on new fashions for Fall.

Following the program, Mrs. Walter Cranmer was surprised with a baby shower.

Mesdames M.B. Brown, Earl Burke, Ed Cranmer, E.L. Cranmer, Roy Henderson, R.A. Hodges, Blain Hufnagle, John Jennings, H. M. Stokes, Wright, Cranmer and Irlbeck. Five visitors who attended were Miss Fields, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. W.W. Yarbrough, Mrs. W.T. Davis, and Mrs. C.W. Smith.

More Than 250 Attend PTA School Visitation

More than 250 parents and teachers were present at the elementary school last week for the first P-T-A meeting of the new school year.

New members enrolled during the evening brought total membership to 284. Mrs. J.C. Bellah is membership chairman.

Mrs. K.E. Hines, president, presided at the general meeting held in the all-purpose room. Devotional was given by Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of First Methodist Church.

First and second grade teachers were introduced by the principal, Oscar Hinger. They were Miss Mae Simmons, Mesdames Crews Henry, Ray Wells, Orville Hicks, Sidney Burgess, Mary Black and E.R. Reeves, first grade; and Mesdames M.L. Sherrod, J.B. Roberts, Travis McBride, Jewell Hill, Marvin Fite and Roscoe Davis, second.

Mrs. Troy Martin, program chairman, presented an outline of programs for ensuing months. October 18 will be back to school night at the junior high school, with the student council in charge of the program.

Open house at the high school will be held November 15. A Christmas program prepared by the CHS choir and speech departments will be presented at the December meeting of the P-T-A.

January 17, Mesdames J.M. Fite, E.A. Brown and Royal Brantley will speak to the group on the use of art in Canyon Room visitation for third and fourth grades will be held tonight (Thursday) at the elementary school auditorium at 7:30. Not included are fourth grade groups which are housed in the junior high school building. Principal Oscar Hinger announces these groups will be accommodated at the October back-to-school night.

public schools. The annual science fair will highlight the meeting in February, when the date is changed from the regular third Thursday night to the following Tuesday, February 26.

Special services of Canyon schools will be discussed by Larry Roberts, Mrs. Madge Culberson, Mrs. Charles Carlin and Miss Martha Bender March 21. Final meeting of the P-T-A will be held in April, at which time E.J. Webb and Sidney Burgess will conduct a program on their respective departments. Installation of officers will also take place at that meeting.

Mrs. Martin pointed out to last week's group that P-T-A will convene alternately at the three school buildings during the year, and that in a number of cases, activities already scheduled are combined with the P-T-A meeting to condense two meetings into one.

Special music and entertainment are also planned for each P-T-A session.

Mrs. Lee Roy Moreland substituted as secretary at the first meeting, in the absence of Mrs. Thornton Dewey. Mrs. Jack Swartzell was in charge of arranging hospitality with parents for each room, during the room visitation which followed the general meeting.

AAUW Announces Graduate Study On Scholarship

The College Faculty Program of the AAUW Educational Foundation is offering 50 awards for 1963-64 to university women interested in college teaching, the Canyon Branch of the association announced today.

"The American Association of University Women has long been concerned with the college faculty shortage, and has been urging the further education of mature college graduates to help fill the gap," said Mrs. Mary Sligar. A $225,000 grant from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, she explained, is now providing a three-year demonstration program among 11 southern states to attract potential faculty members.

Full tuition grants and personal stipends for graduate study are available to women with bachelor's degrees who are 35 years of age or older and who have not recently been in a graduate study program or on a college faculty. Candidates, who reside in one of the eleven states included in the Program, must plan to be full-time graduate students.

The application deadline for the 1963-64 awards is January 15, 1963. Local college women interested in the program may call Mrs. Charles Harter for further information. Application blanks may be obtained from the College Faculty Program Coordinator, 2401 Virginia Avenue, N.W., Washington 7, D.C.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

We drove down to Tullia last Thursday for a talk with editor H.M. Baggerly. We wanted to know his philosophy of government.

We weren't surprised to hear him say that he believes the purpose for government is to protect the weak from the strong.

This is a typical liberal approach, couched in goodness. What Baggerly never was able to explain to us was who is supposed to be the weak and who is supposed to be the strong. Actually, the strong has come to be those who manipulate the government. There is no protection from them.

They have police powers to pry into your personal affairs with many of the civil rights guaranteed by the constitution now summarily abridged.

They have taxing power to seize legally under the law more of the fruits of your sweat than you are allowed to take home to your family. Their largess is handed out on the basis of political consideration rather than on basis of need as light headed ultra liberals have dreamed of for years.

Even Baggerly admits that continued rising taxes could concentrate all power at the top. Legislation already proposed by the Kennedy administration is designed within a period of 10 to 15 years to deliver up to government well over half of this nation's capacity to produce.

Then incentive must by necessity be replaced by forced labor as in the other socialistic utopias of the world. Then it will be inevitable that we have a Big Brother to "watch over us". Shades of 1984, Mr. Baggerly.

We had a very friendly chat with H.M. We plan to continue our efforts toward his conversion to support of constitutional government.

R.M. Jolly up Amarillo way vehemently disagreed with us in a letter to the editor this week. We called him on the phone and after talking awhile he became a subscriber to The Canyon News.

We expect to have him working for Jack Seale and Jack Cox soon.

We fired off a telegram of commendation to Walter Rogers last week after his amendment to the foreign aid bill. The Rogers amendment would stop shipping of anything to Castro's Cuba by any country wanting foreign aid.

It was a good amendment and as an American we are grateful for it but we still will support Jack Seale in November. Congressman Rogers started several years late and too close to the eve of election for us to be deceived.

It should be a lesson to the congressman. When he was here early this year he told us he often did not speak his piece because he feared loss of influence.

The Rogers amendment was shouted through the house. This fact tells the story. Mr. Rogers' influence would be 100 fold greater had he been representing the Panhandle all along.

There's a story going around about Walter Graham's early rising.

Someone is supposed to have gone to the Graham ranch several mornings in an effort to talk to Walter and missed him every time.

Determined to find his man, the caller arrived at the ranch at 3:30 o'clock in the morning. "Could I see Mr. Graham?" the caller is supposed to have asked.

"Well, he was here early this morning," Mrs. Graham is supposed to have replied. "But I don't know where he is now."

We really don't know whether it happened or not but it's a good story. Walter Graham is one of the leading ranchers of the area and has to cover a lot of ground.

A pretty young freshman girl tugged at our sleeve Tuesday morning at the Athletic Building on the campus.

"Sir, could you help me?" she asked at the point of tears. "Certainly, anything I can do," we replied.

"Can you tell me which way is east?" she asked. "I'm lost."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I read in your column last week about Senator Ralph Yarborough being greeted by bi partisan groans when he arose to speak on sugar beet legislation. I was disturbed at this report because I have always felt that the Senator was an able hard working man--now, in this week's Tullia Herald, I find that editor Baggerly has questioned a number of Senators both Republican and Democrat and in each instance the Senators praise Ralph Yarborough very highly.

Senator Paul Douglas from Illinois stated the statement printed in your column was completely false. Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin said, Senator Yarborough does indeed have the respect of his fellow Senators. Wayne Morse of Oregon says your report was an invention on somebody's part. Strom Thurmond while disagreeing with Yarborough on most legislative matters doubts the veracity of the report. Several Republicans, while not wanting to be quoted were cordial toward Yarborough and said that they certainly don't "groan" when he speaks.

Now Editor Martin these are only a few of the Senators who were quoted you can read the statements of the rest in the Tullia Herald.

It appears to me that your friend has lied to you and you sir have done Senator Yarborough a great disservice by printing this lie. Yarborough has gone to bat for the little people in this area and State many, many, times and if you had any stature about you would admit such and print a retraction of last week's editorial. You owe this much to the people who read your papers.

How can we as parents properly teach our children right from wrong when newspapers slant news, print half truths and in some cases even out right lies? No wonder we have such a crime rate in this country. I am a democrat but I'm not above praising a republican when he or she does a good job. Can you, Mr. Martin, say the same? If so I have never heard it--but I can still hope.

Sincerely,
Ralph M. Jolly

(Editor's Note: Ralph writes a lot like Ralph Yarborough talks--without any knowledge of his subject. We'll stick by our source who said the senators groaned. They groaned.)

Dear Sir:

I have just received my copy of the News in the morning mail and want to send my thanks for your forthright editorial stand favoring Jack Seale as our next Congressman.

More than two years ago, in answer to a critical comment on his liberal voting, Mr. Rogers stated that the way it appeared to him, he should become more liberal, considering the vote for Senator Yarborough throughout the district. After seeing how little effect the subsequent Tower victory has had upon his voting, I share the same conclusion reached in your editorial in feeling that this district is, and has been for too long, without adequate representation in congress.

Sincerely,
R. C. Jordan

Dear Sir:

Thought your readers might like to know that Congressman Walter Rogers voted against killing the Farm Bill, voted to raise the national debt ceiling, voted for the arms control agency, voted against limiting contributions to the UN Congo operation, voted for federal aid to higher education, voted for a twenty million dollar fish tank for Washington, D.C., and voted for handing Congressional control of tariffs over to the President.

Right conservative Congressman we have there, eh?
Sincerely,
W. W. Williams

Your Better Hearing

LISTENING

Today, we will discuss a subject which is most important to every person and especially important to the parents of school age children. The development of good listening habits is critical to successful academic growth.

Hearing is inherited--listening is achieved. One can have good hearing and still be a poor listener. In fact, it is my feeling that the majority of our population fit this category.

Oscar Hinger and I were discussing this problem. He stated that he felt a close relationship existed between poor listening habits and poor reading ability. He went on to say that with the use of the phonic technique of teaching reading, a child needed to have an awareness of sounds before they would be meaningful to them in reading.

After talking with Oscar, I observed several children as they were giving hearing tests in school. The nurse was amazed when I asked if certain of the children had reading problems. She couldn't understand how I could guess between good readers and those who were poor readers. It really was simple. Most of the children who could not listen well in the hearing tests were found to be poor readers.

I feel that listening development is a most important aspect in preparation for adult life. If a child gets away with rough shod listening habits, he will carry these into adult life. This can be a burdensome handicap in finding and maintaining

Hilltop Views

This week's column is a ramble. I have no idea as I begin what I may be saying before I close. And my readers may not know what I have said when they have followed through to the end of the last line.

But as of the moment I am thinking about our postal system--a socialistic organization created March 9, 1829. Before that time the postal service was a private enterprise and was to expensive for wide general use. Personal and business correspondence, advertising by mail as we know it, and the circulation of newspapers, magazines and the like--all these were infinitesimal when compared with present day mail service. There was one good thing about this situation: the public was not afflicted with mail trash. (It sure gripes me to pay box-rent for the trash dispensers).

Remember, too, that in those days we had no railway system, no public road system, no automobiles, and no telephones or telegraph lines. Means of communication were exceedingly primitive and difficult. Government of all kinds was far away and did very little governing. It took my father twodays to go to the county seat to pay his taxes and get back home--a roundtrip of 36 miles.

These conditions explain why our cherished doctrines of individualism and local self-government are so deeply rooted in our American system.

They also explain in part the continuing and alarming rapid increase in crime. Back in the 19th century population was so sparse that there was relatively little opportunity to violate human rights. It is only when people are thrown together in close proximity that they tread on each other's toes.

As the violation of rights increases and crimes become more frequent more laws and more officers to enforce them become necessary. It is in this way that government grows and more taxes are needed. If somehow we could improve the quality of our individual and social contacts in proportion to the number of them we could hold down the need for regulatory laws and the number of enforcement agencies. In other words we need to accelerate and strengthen our civilizing influences. Think what it would mean, for example, if a considerable majority of the American people gave full obedience to law at all levels and controlled their government by the use of an intelligent and clean ballot. Freedom is an essentially intellectual and moral achievement.

But I started out talking about our postal system. Well, I have used it to show how one arm of government has grown in power. The postal system arose out of a great public need that private enterprise could not satisfy. That it is socialistic didn't seem to bother; and so far as I can see it doesn't bother yet.

It is a fact, however, that, like other governmental agencies, the postal system has developed a tendency to amplify its field of service and increase the number of employees and its cost. Take, for instance, parcel post. In recent years it has almost put one large private enterprise out of business--the express company. We don't hear much these days of Wells Fargo, which formerly gave us rather fast service for small freight.

At the same time we hear more and more about postal deficits and the need for higher postal rates. Perhaps I am ill-informed, but it seems to me that postal costs have gone up in the last few years without Congressional action. I hope this is not true, for the increase of bureaucratic power at the national level is assuming dangerous proportions. Some departments of the national government are, in effect, making laws. This, in the opinion of this writer, is unwholesome.

Then there is another defect in our postal system. It has too many riders. Congress is one of them. I am not questioning the value of Congressional contact with the people, though sometimes it seems more selfish than informative. But the cost of Congressional letters to the constituency ought to be a direct expense of the Congress itself rather than of the postal system. Even if such a change did not save money it would better reveal where costs lie.

Another rider is the publications business--newspapers and magazines. We are not unmindful of the defense that subsidized publications put up, but the fact remains that they are, in some measure, in a class with subsidized agriculture and other subsidized enterprises--this, in spite of the fact that most of them are bitter critics of farm subsidies. It is worth notice, too, that according to a former Congressman from this district the press maintains the most powerful lobby in Washington and members of Congress are mortally afraid of it.

I am trying to say that if all the kinks were pulled out of our postal system it would materially reduce the deficit of that department and make unnecessary the constant rise in rates.

good positions.

Many ask me why children are not good listeners. There can be no definite answer for all children. Some children are simply going through a stage involved in developing selective hearing. (We'll discuss this topic next week). Other children have more or less shut out sound because it has not been very pleasant to them. Their parents shout at them or each other, etc.

I feel that there is one most important cause for our children being poor listeners. In most cases, the children are not made to listen. They find that their parents don't demand their attention. They get the feeling that responsibilities around the home are not their concern so they "ignore" instructions. Later, when asked why they did not carry out their assignment, they simply reply, "Oh, I didn't hear you."

Before it is too late, it would be well for the parents of children who do not listen well to talk with their teacher about how they can help the child at home. Each person should accept it as his sacred challenge to develop his senses to the best of his ability. Good listeners succeed where others may fail.

So The People May Know

(An Editorial)

The people of Randall County will be faced in November with deciding by ballot whether to purchase 34 voting machines at a cost of $61,132.

We will not here attempt to say what decision should be reached.

However, we do believe that there are some things the people of Randall County should know before making such a decision. In the first place, 34 voting machines will not fill the county's need at present much less a year or two hence.

Commissioners C.Y. Johnson and B.R. Jones wanted to vote on purchase of only 30 machines.

Actually not even 34 machines will suffice and the county will be faced with the proposition of buying a dozen more at $1798 each within a short time.

Commissioners Clarence Beckman and Glenn Dowlen wanted to make the proposition on whether to purchase 36 or even 42 machines--a realistic figure--but agreed to compromise. Jones and Johnson declined the compromise figure holding out for the proposition to involve only 30 machines.

The decision to base the proposition on 34 machines was reached when Judge Wayland Angel cast the deciding vote. In fairness, let us point out that the county now has a dozen machines on loan besides the 30 in question.

Even if we purchase only 34 machines the cost will be staggering. In the first place, the capital investment on loan would draw 6 percent interest for a neat $3,667.92 a year. It will cost a minimum of $600 a year storage and insurance.

Regardless of sales pitch that the machines will last forever, our experience with machines tells us that the machines may well be obsolete in ten years so add $6,113.12 a year for depreciation.

The two parties will rent the machines for primaries but the rental will do well to pay for maintenance and hauling.

So by simple addition we figure it will cost the county $10,381.12 a year or more than $20,000 for each general election to own the machines.

On the plus side, fewer workers would be required to hold elections. Results would be obtained more quickly. There would be less chance for dishonesty on the part of election judges. There would be less chance that ballots would be mutilated. The plus may over ride the negative. That is a question for the voters to decide.

News Notes From The

RANDALL COUNTY FARM BUREAU

The Farm Bureau Policy Development Committee of Randall County will meet at the Farm Bureau Building on Thursday, September 27th at 8:00 P.M. Members of this Committee are Joe Turpin, Chairman; Charles Conaster, Bill Patke, John Grabber, Quentin Gill and Melvin Schaeffer.

The "grass roots" of Farm Bureau is at the County level. Any of you members who have resolutions you would like the County to consider are advised to present them at this meeting or contact one of the above committee members. This is an important meeting, and the time and place to bring forth resolutions.

We had a most interesting interview this week with Miss Sally Ann Fields, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent. Miss Fields works in many phases in the field of Home Demonstration throughout the County. One of the most interesting phases, in our thinking, is the 4-H Club work. We had thought this work to be almost confined to rural area girls, but we have learned that all girls in the County between the ages of nine and twenty-one are eligible to participate in this very fine club.

There are, at present, four community locations in the County which are so located to make attendance easier for the girls in that particular area. In the South Amarillo area the Club meets at different homes the second Thursday of each month.

At present this Club has 17 members. The Umbarger community area has 23 members, and these young ladies meet on the third Tuesday of each month at the School.

There are 10 members in the Pleasant Jo community who meet at the Farm Bureau Building each second Monday of the month. The West Side Community meets in the homes on the third Thursday of each month, and they have a membership of 14.

This group will have a special meeting on September 27th in the Junior Livestock Building in Canyon. We would not venture a guess on the number of young ladies in the age group between 9 and 21 in Randall County, but only a small percentage of this group as represented by the membership above are presently enrolled in 4-H Club work.

The yearly program is divided into two phases--Fall and Winter, and Spring and Summer.

During the Fall and Winter work is programmed on foods and nutrition. In the Spring and Summer work projects are centered around clothing--grooming, modeling, and the making of clothes with a Dress Review held in July.

In addition, to these general programs there are other projects which match the seasonal holidays. In October the Clubs will be working on Christmas ideas, and the Pleasant Jo Club will learn the art of candle making.

A high-light of the 4-H Club program each year is the choosing of the County Gold Star award which is presented to the top boy and girl in the County. This year the District Gold Star Banquet will be held in Amarillo on November 17th. This is the highest award at the County level.

Miss Cindy Gruner will be honored this year with the Gold Star Award for Randall County, and receive her recognition in Amarillo at the District Banquet. Twenty-two counties make up our District.

A new organization will be inaugurated in Randall County in October. This organization will be known as the 4-H Community Club and will have a membership of both boys and girls who meet together one night each month. If you are interested in joining this club please contact Miss Fields.

As always in any organization leadership is necessary to make the club function. Adult leaders are necessary in 4-H Club work. Many of the activities must be accomplished in smaller groups of four and five girls in order that proper supervision be given.

Any adult lady who feels the need of helping and who especially would like to give some time working with girls should contact Miss Fields. An hour or two of your time each month will give you a great personal satisfaction, and the young ladies in the Club will more than appreciate your assistance.

The Randall Farm Bureau column is still requesting local items in the County of interest to its readers. Won't you the reader please oblige.

Patrons Give Reasons For Support Of CCCA

A number of Canyon citizens who regularly purchase membership in the Canyon Community Concert Association have given their reasons for doing so.

Following are their statements:

MRS. WAYLAND ANGEL: "I think it is wonderful. It is one of the few ways available to us and our children for a higher type of entertainment. My (my daughter) is 13, and always goes when I go. It is important that our children see other things than most of the programs on T.V."

MRS. CLAY COOPER: "I support the association just because I thoroughly enjoy fine music. It is never convenient for me to go to Amarillo or other towns for this type of program, so the association brings it to my doorstep."

MRS. R. B. GIST JR.: "We have an opportunity we simply would not have without the Community Concerts. We wish we could give it our full time. Our children do not forget hearing artists in person like they do TV programs. They were particularly impressed with the Whitmore-Lowe piano duet."

ROYAL BRANTLEY: "The primary interest I have in the concerts is that they bring fine performers here for students to see and hear who are studying for a professional career in music. They need opportunities to hear high standard performers, and this brings them close. In addition, I want the cultural environment of the community in which I bring up my family to be as fine as possible and conducive to the appreciation of the arts."

MRS. BRUCE WINN: "The type of music we get through community concerts is such that we don't ordinarily find on TV and radio. This is the type of entertainment our young people need, and the community concert association does provide that for them."

REV. NEWTON STARNES: "I appreciate getting to hear artists I wouldn't hear otherwise. I have been interested in the community concerts since I ushered for a series while a student at SMU in Dallas."

BERNARD WARREN: "I feel that to bring outstanding talent to Canyon is good both socially and educationally for the young and old. We have an opportunity to see and hear things that otherwise could be seen only in big cities. It is a very healthy thing for a town."

MRS. JACK TAYLOR: "It is an inspiration to me to see real fine artists in person in our community. Not every community has this organization, and I think that even if we can't go to each program, we should help support it for others to hear. I also think it is wonderful for the young people who are studying music. It provides a great incentive for them."

RAYMOND RAILLARD: "We started supporting community concerts because that was the only way to bring some real fine entertainment to Canyon. We wanted our boys to see some of the better things."

PAT HALEY: "I think the community concerts have brought the kind of entertainment our community needs and it's good. We hear the finest artists available. I think it is wholesome entertainment for any age, and a good thing for the community."

MRS. BOB LINDSEY: "I enjoy the Community Concert Series because they present entertainers and varied programs."

Unit Award To T. Lowe

ITAZUKE AB, Japan--First Lieutenant Teddy R. Lowe of Tulia, Tex., has been presented the United States Air Force Outstanding Unit Award here.

Lieutenant Lowe, a station traffic officer in the Aerial Port detachment here, received the award as a permanent decoration for his part in helping the 315th Air Division, headquartered at Tachikawa AB, Japan, achieve an exceptionally meritorious rating in support of military operations. The detachment is a subordinate unit of the 315th.

A graduate of Texas A & M College, the lieutenant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lowe, Route 2, Tulia.

Presentation of the award was made by the detachment commander Major Arden L. Whitney.

Hales Herd Averages Announced

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced a new lactation average for the registered Holstein herd of Richmond Hales, Canyon.

Richmond Hales has 47 completed production records averaging 14,040 lbs. of milk and 511 lbs. of butterfat.

Lactation averages are calculated on the commonly-employed two-milkings a day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis. This provides a uniform basis for comparison and selection in registered Holstein breeding programs.

Texas A&M College supervised the weighing and testing of production as part of the official herd testing programs of the national Holstein organization.

Dr. Cornette On Mule After Buffalo Victory

By TROY MARTIN
Dr. James P. Cornette vowed to ride a donkey the length of a football field again only when West Texas State College Buffaloes are rated top team in the nation.

Thus did the West Texas State president verbally thumb his nose at Texas Tech's Red Raiders who have slashed WT from their football schedule.

Herded along by a bevy of football players Dr. Cornette rode Joe Curry's donkey a full length of the football field and then thirty extra yards as the students stood in the rain to watch.

The donkey, fat and sassy, ambulated the first 100 yards in ladylike fashion. As she neared the end of the last thirty she stuck her front feet in the mud and then cavorted a bit to the amusement of the students.

Dr. Cornette rode the donkey in fulfilling a pledge made 15 years ago.

Dr. Cornette says he will no longer ride the donkey when WT beats Tech even if they play them again. He left the impression that merely beating the Red Raiders might not be of sufficient importance to merit a ride such as he made Monday morning.

The college president was formally dressed for the occasion. He wore a dark dinner jacket with a white carnation, a cowboy hat and levis.

In a talk to the student body before the ride, Dr. Cornette expressed dissatisfaction with the financial arrangement between Tech and WT.

He noted that from the past two WT-Tech encounters Texas Tech has cleared a whopping $200,000 after expenses while WT has played for a paltry $30,000. WT had to pay expenses out of their share to boot.

"Maybe they'd rather lose $100,000 than have us beat them," Cornette declared.

The West Texas president placed the blame for termination of the WT-Tech rivalry squarely on the shoulders of Texas Tech—most of it on Raider Athletic Director Polk Robinson.

He said WT Athletic Director Frank Kimbrough has done everything he could to get the schedule continued.

"They (Tech) have absolutely refused to do it," Cornette went on. "It's their responsibility."

The donkey riding was preceded by a pep rally. Brief statements came from Ralph Dunn, president of the student body and Kimbrough.

Coach Joe Kerbel introduced the football players.

Dr. James P. Cornette is shown here making good a vow to ride a donkey every time West Texas State beats Texas Tech. Monday morning's ride ends the tradition. Dr. Cornette indicated that merely beating Texas Tech might not merit going to so much trouble. Helping guide the critter along are from left Jim Cunningham, Jerry Don Logan and Dory Funk, all Buff football players.

John Miller Gets Award

John E. Miller, a research chemist in the Amarillo Helium plant, recently won a $200 award for "superior performance."

Miller, who lives here at Canyon, received the award for outstanding work on data needed in the helium conservation program.

The awards were announced recently by L.J. Blalack, administrative office.

Farmers who have not filed a claim for refund for federal gasoline taxes should do so now. Claims must be in the mail before Sept. 30 to be valid. This claim is for taxes of federal origin on gasoline used on farm for farming purposes between the period July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962.

As this is written (Monday) gentle showers are adding to the moisture needed to finish wheat seeding. Many dry land wheat fields still have an inch or two of dry topsoil between the wet surface and the subsoil. The wheat is up in many areas. Grazing could start in early October with surface moisture to firm the ground and anchor feeder roots.

Grain sorghum harvest will be going on for several weeks. The very early fields are reaching harvest stage and can be cut with a few days of open weather. Late planted fields are still very green and will not be ready before frost. Peak period of harvest looks like it will be in late October.

Some of the directors of the Randall County Sugar Beet Growers Association indicate that no sign up period for County Growers has been set. The struggle for a sugar mill continues with at least three areas in the Panhandle of Texas seeking to become the focal point for sugar refining. Randall County is considered to be on the fringe area of the Hereford location.

Did you know that all public auction sales in Texas which sell cattle are under recent regulations governing cattle movement under the Texas Brucellosis program. These sales rings do not have to be located in a clean area to be regulated. All female cattle over 8 months old unless consigned to slaughter must be banded cleared before leaving such sales.

In the late 1940's the family grocery bill was about one-fourth the average take-home pay check. Today it is less than one-fifth even though food prices have gone up.

Marketing expense, processing, transportation and distribution takes about 60 cents out of our food dollar. This leaves about 40 cents for the farmer.

While our food bill has risen 15% in the past few years, housing rose 32%, transportation rose 46%, medical care rose 57%, and the average take-home pay rose 59%.

Question: What was the net farm value of a quart of milk that sold for 25.6 cents at retail during January-March 1962.

Answer: Eleven cents.

Food is our biggest bargain today.

Billy Brown Claimed By Death Here

Billy Morgan Brown, 38 years old, died Wednesday night of last week.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Nebbett Hospital after being stricken with a heart attack. Billy was an elementary schoolteacher. He was grading school papers when he was stricken.

Billy liked to work with youngsters. Although in his thirties, he decided he wanted to teach and lacking a degree, he entered West Texas State College.

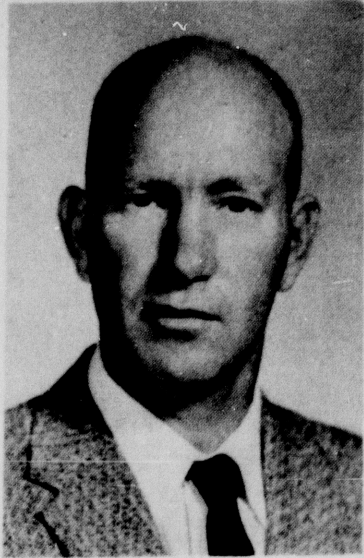

He was graduated from college only last year and immediately was employed in the Canyon School System.

He was loved by the youngsters he taught and led. Grief stricken children whose lives he had touched crowded the pews at First Baptist Church where funeral services were held.

Billy was Scoutmaster for Scout Troop 108 and was a coach in the summer baseball program for small boys. He taught a Sunday School class of 10-year-old boys at First Baptist Church of which he was a devoted member.

He had been a member of Canyon Kiwanis Club and was a member of the NEA, a national organization of teachers, and a member of the Randall County unit of Texas State Teachers Association.

Billy was born Sept. 21, 1924 at Floydada. He served in the US Navy during World War II.

BILLY BROWN

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in First Baptist Church. Officiating were Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor, and Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of First Methodist Church. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under direction of LaGrone Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Oscar Hinger, A.B. Holt, Crawford Ruthart, Charlie Graham, Sidney Burgess and Don Briggs.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Betty Jo Brown of the home address; two daughters, Faye Ann and Linda Jo; a son, Barry Morgan Brown; a sister, Mrs. Betty Hancock of Albuquerque, NM; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. M.B. "Farmer" Brown, Canyon; and the paternal grandfather, G.B. Brown of Aztec, NM.

Methodists To Begin Revival Here Sunday

Revival services begin Sunday at Canyon First Methodist Church, according to Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor.

Revival preacher will be the Rev. Leon C. Matthis of Houston.

The revival will begin with dual morning services at 8:30 o'clock and at 10:50 Sunday and will continue with evening services Monday through Thursday.

Evening weekday services will be held at 7 o'clock.

Theme of the sermons will be "Shoes from a Cobbler." Rev. Matthis is director of evangelism of the Texas Conference of the Methodist Church with offices in the Methodist building in Houston.

He is a fourth generation Texas Methodist. His great-grandfather was a pioneer preacher and teacher in East Texas.

His grandfather was a minister in the Southwest Texas Conference for 44 years. His father, now retired, taught in Texas Wesleyan College.

A brother, David Matthis, is on the faculty of West Texas State College.

Rev. Matthis has served as pastor of the Methodist Churches in Stephenville, Fort Worth, Longview, Baytown and Texarkana. He was a chaplain during World War II, serving in the European Theater.

He and Mrs. Matthis have three sons, Davis, Robert and Morris.

From DuPont Research!

New way to beat the Blister Problem

Here is the new system that gives you greater protection against moisture blistering than traditional linseed oil paints:

If the old paint has blistered, remove old paint down to bare wood.

Prime with Du Pont Blister-Resistant Primer.

Cover with one or more coats of "Lucite" House Paint. Dries in one hour. Clean hands and brushes with water. Result—a rich, lovely, low-luster finish of far longer life than old style linseed oil paints!

House Paint For Wood, Stucco or
